BLISSSED OUT IN BALI

Need a short break from city living? Planning a grown-up's getaway or multi-generation family gathering? Surely everyone deserves a few blissful Bali days at Casa Brio.

Brio is Italian for vivacity, and Casa Brio has it in spades. Now blazing even brighter after a fresh facelift, this beach-in-five but away-from-the-crowd villa promises Bali-style tropical living with a contemporary twist. Expect achingly chic architecture and abundant living space – a rarity in central Seminyak. With a choice of seating and dining areas and four sensible configured bedrooms – five counting the convertible media room, there's plenty of room for two families or a group of friends to gather here without getting under each other's feet.

How will you spend your days in paradise? Lounge on oversized beanbags then slip into the 21-metre pool to cool off. Lunch alfresco in the bale, then relax on the shaded rooftop terrace or in the air-conditioned media room. Enjoy an in-villa massage then stroll down to the beach for sunset magic. As night falls, convene in the huge vaulted living pavilion for sparkling conversation, cocktails and a candlelit dinner created by the accomplished chef. Then retire to a petal-strewn bath and a blissful night's sleep – the bedrooms are supremely comfortable, and their bathrooms are just as glamorous.

Of course, if you can tear yourself away from all this luxury, Brio-style – and believe us, the staff know a thing or two about pampering guests – La Lucciola, Ku De Ta and other famed Bali restaurants and bars are a saunter away.

What's stopping you? Go on – grab the kids/other half/besties and head on over.
